

PhD Student Advisor Policy

4.27.21

Departments must have a policy that governs the assignment of PhD students to faculty research advisors.

The policy should indicate how and when assignments are made, who must approve an assignment, how departments handle the situations when the advisor or student would like to change assignments, and how students' funding is handled.

Advisor assignments could require approval of the faculty member, department chair, associate chair, and/or a previous faculty advisor.